

Film Screening

Mother Nature's Child: Growing Outdoors in the Media Age

Mother Nature's Child is a fascinating and important film about a real and growing crisis in our country. It also thankfully suggests a solution to the problem which could be the salvation of our planet and posterity.

~ Ken Burns
Filmmaker

In poetic words and images, and focused passion, Mother Nature's Child captures the essence of the challenge we face.

~ Richard Louv, Author
Last Child in the Woods

Compassionate, artistic, and richly rewarding -- a film all parents and educators should see.

~Tom Wessels, Ecologist, Author
The Myth of Progress

Among the most hopeful films I've seen in years -- a beautiful, well-crafted act of storytelling that quietly and compellingly reveals exactly what's possible when we and our kids find the ways to reconnect with nature, with one another, with the big ideas about what it means to be human.

~ Peter Forbes
Center for Whole Communities

7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 7

Bemis Hall
Bedford Road, Lincoln

Film and Discussion Sponsored by Lincoln Land Conservation Trust

Call 781.259.8690 for information

www.mothernaturesmovie.com